Weber backing Price

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

It's only October 1983, but the 1984 elections already are causing increasingly loud reverberations throughout Madison County, statewide, and nationally.

For starters, State's Attorney Don Weber, Republicans' only countywide elected official, said Friday he is supporting Democrat Melvin Price for re-nomination to Congress.

Price usually is a shoo-in but is being opposed in the March 20 primary by Jerry Costello, St. Clair County Board chairman.

The staunchly conservative prosecutor, commenting that the Democratic nominee is often "tantamount to election" in the Democratic-inclined 21st Congressional District, says he probably will support the Republican nominee in November 1984.

Weber said he is taking a stand on the primary because, "Mel Price hasn't got a bad job" and because Weber thinks it would be appalling to have "Costello and his political assassins in such a position of power."

The state's attorney noted Costello has links to a Belleville attorney, Amiel Cueto, Weber is suing Cueto for libel, and Cueto has made charges (against the prosecutor) that are being investigated by a special prosecutor named by Madison County circuit judges.

Cueto has no official role in Costello's campaign, whose chairman is Attorney Bruce Cook, state Democratic central committee member for the 21st District.

But Cueto has been Costello's main fund-raiser, Weber contends. The prosecutor said he thinks Cueto's attacks on him have been motivated at least partly by a desire to neutralize a potential Costello foe for the Congressional seat.

"They jumped on me because I'm the one Republican who might be powerful enough to challenge Costello," Weber told the Alton Telegraph.

Although rumored to be a potential candidate, the state's attorney said he (Continued on Page 3)

Four seek new terms

All four Democratic incumbents in Madison County offices announced late last week that they are seeking re-election.

Willard V. Portell, circuit clerk, is seeking his seventh term.

Ronald "Rink" Lucas, recorder of deeds, and Mrs. Dallas Burke, coroner, are seeking their fourth terms. And Arthur "Pete" Fields, auditor, is seeking his second full term; he was appointed one year prior to his first elected term.

The four 1984 candidates said they feel they are "offering the voters of Madison County experience and the responsibility that we have shown in office for many years."

"We believe we will add stature and credibility to the Democratic ticket. All four officeholders have gained state and national recognition for their performance in office."

"We are announcing jointly and will run together for a stronger ticket and also to cut the rising cost of election campaigning.

"Together, we have accumulated 53 years in our respective offices, emphasizing serving the public, and we have prior service in government of over 15 years."

"These offices in the County Courthouse have been well run by these officeholders and their staffs and we feel the four will add considerable strength to the Democratic party in the fall election of 1984," they concluded.

The primary voting will be held in March and the general election in November 1984.

The announcement of their candidacy was made by Demco (Democratic Elected Madison County Officials). Demco members are the four named and County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, Regional School Supt. Harold E. Briggs, Treasurer Mick Henkhaus and Sheriff Emil Toffant.

day in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. More than 200 people attended the day-long event. Shane, whose father is a MVED firefighter, attended the open house with his grandfather. (Press-Record Photo by Alan L. Gerstennecker)

'Jedi' ready for Halloween

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

With Halloween just two short weeks away, trick or treaters will soon be confronted with the age old question—what can I be for Halloween this year? According to five area costume companies, this year's chic masks and costumes will be based on characters from "Return of the Jedi," especially Darth Vader. Other popular characters this year include Mr. T, Papa Smurf, Zorro and the old stand-by, Dracula.

Ed Meinhardt, owner of St. Louis Carnival Supply, 3822 South Broadway, St. Louis, said the two big sellers he's noticed this year are belly dancers and Zorro. "The belly dancer outfit sold well last year but it's doing even better this year," said Meinhardt. "As for the popularity of the Zorro outfit, it seems to have come out of nowhere. I can't explain it."

Meinhardt said his company has been receiving orders for Halloween costumes since early September, but that the volume of orders doesn't really build until mid-October.

The costumes at the St. Louis Carnival Supply range in price from $10 to $250, with the average cost being about $25. Meinhardt said an example of a $10 costume would be a baby hat and bib. The $250 costume would probably be that of an animal.

Rich Brendel, of Tribout Holiday House, 1705 W. Main Street, Belleville, said most of the costume orders he has handled have been for "Star Wars" or "Return of the Jedi" characters. "Darth Vader and the Ewoks are really popular this year," he said.

Brendel noted that, although the costumes run in trends due to what is popular on TV or at the movies, there are some standard costumes that are always popular. "We usually get a lot of requests for western type garb, and clowns are usually always popular."

According to Brendel, Tribout Holiday House rents and sells Halloween costumes. "The cheapest costume we sell costs around $10, which would be like a doctor uniform, and the most expensive outfit we sell is our Uncle Sam costume, which costs about $20. That's because it's covered with sequins."

Brendel said the price range of renting a costume is between $8 and $55. The average sale price of an outfit is $35. If the costumes are rented, a (Continued on Page 3)

Blood tests suggested but state says most lead worries are premature

The state has issued a formal response to questions about lead pollution here, including advice to undergo regular blood tests for those who believe they may have been exposed to abnormal amounts of lead.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) issued its statement in answer to questions posed at a Sept. 15 public hearing. The hearing dealt with the State Implementation Plan (SIP) to control lead air pollution in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

This month, the IEPA tested for possible lead contamination of alleys in Venice and Eagle Park Acres that were covered with crushed battery casings; a 200,000-ton lead waste pile at 15th and State streets.

"The battery casings by themselves are not likely to cause lead poisoning," according to the IEPA statement. "Walking through a dusty parking lot of lead casings a few times a week is not going to raise the body lead count to the danger level. But it will help elevate lead levels."

The agency said the amount of lead in the battery casings must be determined first before any assessment can be made about health risks. Results of a random sampling of casings found in the City of Venice and Venice Township are expected in about a week.

The question of the casings was raised at the September public hearing by the owner of a tavern in the 1100 block of State Street, Madison. The owner said a business parking lot had been coated with crushed batteries from the lead waste pile.

In answer to another question about the scrap pile, the IEPA stated runoff from the pile located on the grounds of Taracorp, Inc., is "certainly contaminated with lead" but that the extent of any health problem posed by the runoff has yet to be determined. In the past, residents living near the lead pile have registered complaints about runoff, according to Carroll "Bud" Gates, a Granite City sanitation employee.

The runoff should be "greatly reduced" when SIP strategies are put into effect, according to the IEPA. Those SIP requirements include the immediate paving of parking lots and plant grounds and treating of open air areas regularly with dust suppressants.

The lead pile plan is to cover the waste with a plastic liner, limestone, dirt and vegetation.

The IEPA was criticized at the public hearing for not requiring the removal, rather than covering, of the pile as part of the state implementation plan, and for not seeking federal funds for the project.

In a separate action, the state is investigating the nomination of the waste pile for the federal Superfund list of sites eligible for special clean-up funds. In defense of its move not to require removal of the pile in the SIP proposal, the IEPA said it found fugitive dust particles and Taracorp's lead process to be the two greatest causes for concern about possible lead-related health problems.

2nd local history book by Georgia Engelke

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

"The Great American Bottom" has been published, tracing the history of the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers' lowland from Grafton on the north to Chester on the south, an area four to seven miles wide and more than 100 miles long.

The 132-page book by Granite Cityan Georgia McCormick Engelke was prepared with the aid of historical material left by her grandfather, George M. McCormick. It is dedicated to her granddaughters, Kathy Marie, Jennifer Marie, Debbie Anne and Kristy Rose.

In displaying a copy that was newly off the press, Mrs. Engelke said today that the sale will begin at the Old Six Mile Historical Society's antique and collectors' show Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 22 and 23, at St. Elizabeth Church, Pontoon and Johnson roads.

"In 1976, the 200th birthday of our nation, I wrote 'Old Six Mile,' a book about early local history," she recalled.

"Soon after, I was pleased to learn that many young people were interested in local history and wanted to read more about it."

"During the last six years, their interest has increased so greatly that I have made a more thorough study of our region and have gathered much valuable information. It is compiled and preserved in 'The Great American Bottom.'"

"In the modern histories of today, little is told about 'The Great American Bottom, how it came into being, and how it helped to make our country grow into such a great nation."

"In the new book, I have told how this great fertile plain was taken from the Indians and then the French and the English, and how it was made into a highly cultivated farmland by the Americans and by German immigrants."

"Important events described in the book are intended to help one understand the relationship and connection between past history and the present," Mrs. Engelke told the Press-Record.

"Students read how George Rogers Clark came into the area and took over the Bottom without firing a shot. But little is told about the hardships he and his men had to go through to hold the land four years later." She seeks to correct any lack of detailed information with her latest book.

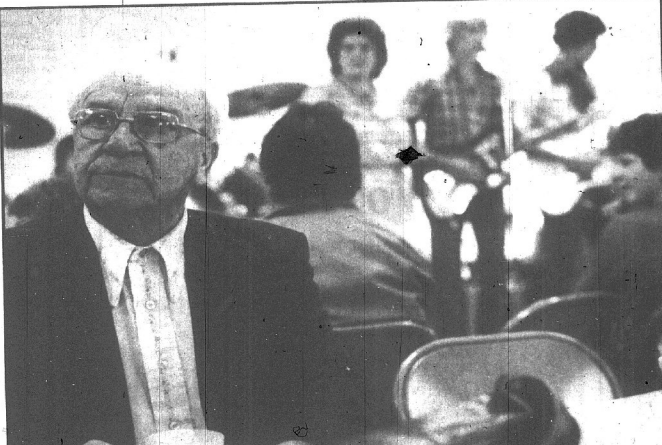

The author is proud of the bright red, white and blue cover, which shows a 1796 map of the American Bottom. The area is described on the map as part of upper Louisiana, in the "country of the Illinois."

The map was found in a collection of books and records of her late grandfather, a senator from Illinois.

Mrs. Engelke, appropriately, was born on a farm in The Great American Bottom.

She attended a country school, graduated from Collinsville High School and studied at the Carbondale Teachers' College.

information to assess the health effects of the scrap pile, if a study is conducted. Preliminary information related to the pile does not show excessive lead in the drinking water or a violation of lead levels in the wastewater processed through the Granite City treatment plant. "Most importantly, blood samples from people show no lead poisoning," the EPA states.

"The scrap pile is not the biggest source of lead emissions in the area. Tarcorp's smelting and processing activities have a far greater influence on airborne lead levels," according to the EPA. "The scrap pile contributes 13 percent of the total (lead) at the monitor measuring the highest lead level."

Tarcorp has decided to discontinue lead smelting operations, involving its blast furnace, rotary furnace and batch mixer, rather than installing air pollution controls. The firm is continuing its fabricating business.

At the hearing, representative of St. Louis Lead Recyclers - formed to reclaim lead from the scrap pile when lead prices were high - argued that the lead problem here could not be solved without removal of the waste pile.

The owner of the lead reclaiming equipment said that he would remove the equipment from the Granite City site if the state and federal EPA do not agree to fund the pile reclamation process and presumably use St. Louis Lead Recyclers for the project.

The state has responded. "There also is the unanswered question...about the pollution risks of pile reclamation. St. Louis Lead Recyclers said it would take from six to eight years to reclaim the entire pile. At this time, no final assessment has been made of the air pollution and water runoff that would occur during the period the pile would be worked.

If federal funds are approved for the project or that funding would come in time to meet the firm's pressing financial needs. Due to the sagging lead market, the company discontinued its operations here last April.

An unofficial estimate of $20 million has been suggested as the cost of cleaning up the scrap pile.

Sand Prairie country school here—in "the center of the horsehead country"—where she met "a young man of German descent who raised horses." She and Wilbert Engkele were married and they have two sons, Jim and Bill.

In 1956, she became a substitute teacher in the Granite City schools and soon was teaching full-time. Seeing a need for special education faculty members, she attended night classes and summer sessions to obtain a degree in that field.

She is a charter member of the Beta Eta unit of Delta Kappa Gamma, an international society for professional teachers, and served as president of the Madison County chapter.

Her church work has included teaching Sunday school for 25 years, serving as president of the Women's Guild, and membership on the Church Council of St. John United Church of Christ. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. A descendant of the Gilliam family, early settlers in the American Bottom, she became keenly interested in the early history of this area. Following her retirement as a teacher, she began to do more and more research into the past. She is one of the founders of Old Six Mile Historical Society, which seeks to preserve local history and ultimately to establish a historical museum.

Six Mile refers to that distance from the Mississippi River. Six Mile Township includes the present Quad-City area of Chouteau, Granite City, Nameoki and Venice townships.

Containing 32 illustrations, her second book discusses the early history of the American Bottom, the Indians and the French, plans for expansion of Illinois Country, the takeover by England, George Rogers Clark and the Shawnee settlement of Americans in Illinois Country, Madison County pioneers, cultural developments in the new territory, the war of 1812, new settlements, transportation, German immigration, slavery problems and the Civil War, growth in The Bottom, the great wars and problems that followed, and travel on the Great River Road.

Mrs. Engkele has sought to "record the authentic events of the past, so as to bring to light the role the American Bottom played in the history of the United States."

Her many fans are convinced that, by telling what happened in the lives of early settlers and how they developed their newly-found land, she has focused a helpful spotlight on events that contributed substantially to America's greatness.

Backing Representative

does not intend to run for Congress in 1984. He is expected to seek re-election to county office.

Cuetto said he and Costello have been close friends for 25 years, adding that they grew up together in East St. Louis, were best men in each other's weddings and are godfathers to each other's children.

He denied that his verbal barrage against Weber has been politically motivated. Calling the prosecutor a "right-wing kook," Cuetto said he doubts that Cong. Price wants Weber's help in the Democratic primary.

Never one to back off from a dispute, Weber said Costello has to "denounce" Cuetto or endorse him. You have to judge the man by the people he surrounds himself with.

Asserting that the anti-Price candidacy was engineered by certain political bosses, labor leaders and powerful lawyers, Weber said, "The theory is that if you get the bosses, you don't have to worry about the people.

"There are many Democrats far more qualified than Costello," don't know who someone like (Illinois House Majority Leader) Jim McPike is not even considered. The voters are too smart for this power play. Price will smash Costello."

Meanwhile, Cong. Paul Simon, Makandis Democrat, the 22nd District area congressman for the past decade after serving as the 1968-72 lieutenant governor, acknowledged Friday that the Illinois Democratic Central Committee may not endorse him for the U.S. Senate nomination.

Simon thinks the committee's backing could go to the state party chairman, Illinois Senate Pres. Philip Rock of Oak Park. Despite this, Simon said, Simon has been endorsed by 70 of the 102 Democratic county chairmen. Several voters and party polls show Simon and Comptroller Roland Burris ahead of Rock.

deposit, equal to the amount of rental must be put down.

He cautioned, however, that most rented costumes come in one size only, and the rentals get reserved by customers early. "But we do have a wide line of accessories, whereby someone could piece together an outfit if he waited until the day before the holiday."

Chris Mejia, owner and manager of A and A Supply Company, 2296 S. Brentwood Blvd., St. Louis, said she also has seen a trend in costumes this year towards "Return of the Jedi" and "Smurfs." "Our witch costumes, Dracula, nuns, priests, and 'Return from the Dead' masks have also been big sellers this season," she said.

Mrs. Mejia said her company rents costumes for an average price of $25 and it also sells "bargain costumes" for $10. She said the costumes come in several sizes. "The men's costumes usually fit men up to 6'2" tall and the women's sizes usually fit everyone."

She said that the company does do alterations to make the costumes fit "just right," but that these alterations must be requested in advance. "We need a little notice to do alterations, and we provide no cleaning of the costumes."

Don Lobbig, owner of Gibbol's Novelty and Costumes in Leclerc's Landing said most Halloween enthusiasts have been looking for something "flashy" this year.

"Wares" has been really popular this year, but so have prisoners and can-can girls," he said.

The company, which either sells or rents costumes, has an average cost of $25 for either renting or outright sale. Lobbig said he carries a range of sizes in his costumes, and slight alterations are possible. "Drastic alterations are practically non-existent," he said.

Lobbig said rentals must make a security deposit that is equal to the rental fee.

Harry Dorch of Reese Drug Stores, 2216 Bellemeade Village, 3216 Nameoki Road, 281 Madison Ave., Madison, and the Alpine Village Shopping Center in Madison, said he has ordered mostly Smurf and "Return of the Jedi" costumes.

"I've been a little leery this year about ordering too many costumes, because you can never be sure how parents are going to feel about Halloween. They may outlaw the holiday," he said. "The trend in recent years has been to have house parties for the kids, instead of letting them go door to door."

Because of this trend, Dorch said the pharmacy store has expanded its line of party items. "We also carry a lot of make-up items and accessories."

Sawed-off shotgun flourished by man

Yvonne Berry, 32, of 89 Weaver Street, Venice, was at home last week when a man came into her residence and began shouting and using abusive language. He then went to his auto and returned holding a sawed-off shotgun, possibly a .16 gauge, authorities were told.

After the man threatened Mrs. Berry, he left. She said he was intoxicated and had threatened her on past occasions. No arrest was made and no prosecution is planned.

old Granite City girl, a Pooton Beach youth, 16, and a 15-year-old East Alton youth, were released to their parents, also on notices to appear for a hearing.

Arrest 12 in parking area

After dispersing a large crowd of people on the Pooton Family Steakhouse parking area, 1511 Johnson Road, at 12:15 a.m. Sunday, officers were called back to that location at 1:15 a.m. and arrested 12 persons, including three juveniles.

Charged with criminal trespass to property were: Brian F. Willis, 19, of 2340 Cardinal Ave.; Glen A. Huter, 18, of 2560 Northbridge; Charles S. Pears, 18, of 2509 Revere's Route; Min K. Juergensen, 17, of 2223 Washington Ave.; Mark A. Noe, 19, Darrin C. McCauley, 17, and Darrell A. Tucker, 18, all of Wood River, and Kiermit Wagner, 19, and Logan A. Dierksen, 20, both of Belleville. All were released on notices to appear for a court hearing.

The juveniles, a 16-year-old Granite City girl, a Pooton Beach youth, 16, and a 15-year-old East Alton youth, were released to their parents, also on notices to appear for a hearing.

Kimberly Affalter, 24, of 1605 Garfield Ave. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of injuries received Thursday when the front of her car hit the rear of the auto of Audrey Duniphan, 3948 Nameoki Drive. Three westbound cars were damaged after Joan Woods, 1629 Ferguson Ave., hailed to turn left into the Frohardt School driveway on Johnson Road.

The Duniphan auto also stopped but when hit was pushed forward against the rear of the Woods car, Brian Woods, seven years old, 1629 Ferguson, a passenger, received minor injuries.

2 hurt in car, train accident

Two Missouri men sustained injuries at 3:30 a.m. Sunday when their vehicle struck the end of a ladie car on a Granite City Steel train, crossing light signal on Edwardsville Road at 14th Street.

Timothy J. Jackovich, 21, of St. Louis, the driver, and Brian Gallagher, 22, of Ferguson, Mo., were injured and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Jackovich was pinned in the 1967 auto and was extricated by the Granite City Fire Department personnel. A blood sample was taken at the medical center and he was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Happy Day concerned for children

Unshackle bus system planning

The Bi-State Development Agency has had its ups and downs but has made considerable progress, aided by several Granite Cityans who have served with distinction in leadership roles. Carl E. Mathias is the present vice-chairman.

If its problems over the years could be listed and ranked, probably the chief problem would be the actions and attitudes of some Missouri politicians. And times have not changed much, judging by the artificial crisis created by legislators' failure to authorize funding after 1983.

The half-cent Missouri transportation sales tax, which provides 52 percent of the bus system's budget, has several defects, including: its longest extension has been for two years, which prevents any degree of long-range planning or budgeting; it is routed through local-level governmental agencies, which often divert big chunks of the money; and the uncertainty and insecurity damage the morale of riders, employees and everyone else associated with mass transit in this metropolitan area.

Compounding the awkward situation, the Missouri General Assembly adjourned this year's regular session without approving the next biennial tax extension. An attempt will be made to remedy this in a special session beginning Wednesday, but the outcome is unclear.

What would make sense is for the program to be extended indefinitely, eliminating at least part of the frequent political maneuvering related to this permanently-needed public service. There would still be a number of "checks and balances" to monitor the way in which the bus system is run, including fund cutoffs by legislators.

"Planning only two years at a time is ridiculous," in the opinion of Manuel De La O, Bi-State executive director, who asserts that the agency is regularly being "held hostage" by politicians who like to hear begging or by State Rep. Charles Troupe, a bus operator who makes a lot of innuendoes without citing specific examples of mismanagement. Bi-State must project at least five years ahead to obtain even one dollar of federal funds.

As the Globe-Democrat said today, "St. Louis taxpayers, in both the city and county, have learned to live with a half-cent transportation sales tax for the last 10 years, so it would come as no great shock to them if it became one of life's certainties."

Constructive action is needed at Jefferson City, this week.

Control spending, Dixon urges

Line-item veto power for the U.S. president has been proposed by legislators repeatedly since the Civil War. But, attesting to U.S. Senator Albin J. Dixon's persistence, upcoming deliberations on his bill will be the first such hearings in Senate history.

Regardless of how one feels about the issue, the Illinois Democrat is raising interesting points well worth the study and debate they are about to receive this fall.

Speaking in the Senate on Oct. 7, Dixon said, "Today's Wall Street Journal contains a strong, cogently argued editorial on the need to create item-veto power for the president. Modestly would usually prevent me from bringing an editorial such as this to the Senate's attention, since it mentions me in a favorable way. However, I believe the subject is of enough importance to taking the risk of seeming to 'blow my own horn' just a bit."

"It makes many of the same points I have been making on this issue throughout my public career. We all know—Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives—that we simply cannot continue to budget the way we do now."

"We are facing $200 billion deficits as far as the eye can see. It seems clear that patchwork solutions just will not work and that real, long-term solutions will require fundamental changes in the way we address the federal budget."

"The item veto is a fundamental change, one that has been proven workable in 43 states. What works at the state level can work at the federal level, where it is even more crucially needed," Dixon told fellow senators.

New hopes for Laclede Steel

Alton Telegraph comment—One of Alton's economic foundation stones, Laclede Steel Co., will be solidified as a result of purchase of controlling interest by a Canadian firm, Iron Ore Inc. of Montreal, which has pumped $10 million into the operation, increasing its holdings.

Laclede (owner of major Madison facilities) has been troubled for years by competition from foreign countries which dump steel here more cheaply than Laclede can make it. The volatile scrap market is a problem for Laclede, which uses scrap as its main raw material.

Pollution control problems with air and water from the steelmaking process also add costs which foreign competitors don't face. Lagging construction and manufacturing during the recession have meant less demand for Laclede products, including wire, reinforcing bars, strip and plate, bars and semi-finished ingots, blooms, slabs, billets and wire rods. Add the rising cost of electricity used by the huge electric melt furnaces and we wonder how Laclede has survived.

More than 1,500 hourly and almost 300 salaried workers are dependent on the new directions of new ownership and control. The city and schools utilize tax revenue from Laclede and suppliers and support businesses are dependent on the major industry.

The ripple economic effect of a shutdown will hit the community Oct. 18 with the closure of Owens-Illinois. If Laclede can benefit from increased product demand from highway and lock and dam construction, it can be restored to a thriving, profitable operation because its break-even point has been lowered.

If the federal and state governments allow use of imported steel, there is little hope for Laclede or other steel mills. Congress must ensure that Japan and other countries don't dump their steel here.

Laclede has modern furnaces. With streamlined management, new owners and improved productivity, it can move ahead. We urge the new owners to continue active community participation, and we are interested in learning more about the Canadian view of the role of corporate citizen.

Child custody can make moving difficult

Law and you
By Rick Reed
Attorney at Law

When a husband and wife are divorced in Illinois, normally one parent is awarded custody and the other is granted visitation. The exception to this would be when the parents are awarded joint custody. It has been the experience of this writer that the granting of custody is normally accepted more readily by the non-custodial parent when the mother and father live in the same locale. Often real problems develop when the custodial parent attempts to move out of state.

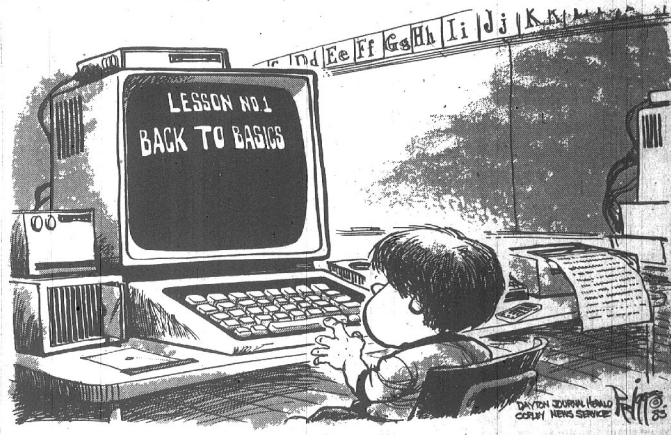

It is important to note that if the parent having custody wishes to move out of state, he or she must get the approval of the court. The party seeking to remove the child will have to demonstrate to the judge that this move is in the best interests of the child. A July 1, 1982, amendment to the Marriage and Dissolution of Marriage Act for the first time placed the burden of proving that such a removal is in the best interests of the child on the party seeking the removal.

Illinois courts which have interpreted this amendment have had the choice of making it difficult or easy for the custodial parent to meet this burden of proof. A recent case decided by the Second District Appellate Court opted for a watered-down approach to meeting this burden of proof, thereby making it easier for the custodial parent to move out of state with the child.

In this case, the mother who had custody petitioned the court to remove the child from Illinois to Texas. The father opposed this move. The mother, in attempting to show the move was necessary, showed the court that her new spouse had lost his job in Illinois and was unable to find employment in this state. She also introduced evidence that the stepfather had found work in Texas, and the therefore, the standard of living of the child would improve if the move were allowed by the court.

The court in this case found that the mother had met her burden of proof, and the move should be allowed. The decision noted that whereas the burden is on the petitioning spouse to show that the move is in the child's best interest, all the custodial parent need show is some sensible reason for the move and that the move is consistent with the best interests of the child. The court stated that the petitioning party did not need to establish that the child would directly benefit from the move.

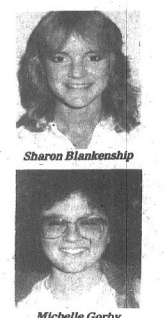

The father in this case argued that a more stringent burden should be placed on the mother here, but the court rejected this argument.

Students at Granite City High School were asked Friday afternoon what they think about the proposal by the state superintendent of schools to raise the age at which students may drop out of school from 16 to 18. Their comments follow.

Troy Moore, a senior
"It would be doing us a favor by keeping us in (school), because you can't get anywhere without an education."

Sharon Blankenship, a senior
"I think a high school education is very important and I think it is a very good proposal. Education should always be encouraged and two more required years cannot possibly harm anyone."

Patty Burch, a senior
"It really doesn't matter because if they (dropouts) are going to drop out of school, they'll just wait the extra two years anyway."

Michelle Gorby, a senior
"I think it's fine the way it is now. If people want to drop out when they're 16, that's the way they want to live their lives."

Courts in state, US set selves above God

To the Editor:
We know nowadays with the grand permission of the U.S. Supreme Court, it used to be that we believed that killing was wrong. I got a letter from the Illinois Supreme Court. It said "denied." They will not look into my court case. I am a Catholic priest. I went to a city where they kill a hundred per week. I wanted a day in court to review the law that allows this. I was arrested for being on a parking lot. At the trial, the judge, not the jury, decided I had no right to be there. Also, I could not show pictures to the jury. I could not read the state lawbook to the jury. Verdict: guilty. I appealed to a higher court. Guilty again. I took the case to the State Supreme Court. "Denied." But killing is insanity. I am not a total dummy. I know that trespassing is commonly wrong. But there are times when it becomes necessary. The fire department does not worry about trespassing when it's time to save a life, or put out a fire. Police do not worry about trespassing when there is killing in a home. And if you see a child fall into a backyard swimming pool, please have the good sense to save the child. Here is what the law book says: "Conduct which would otherwise be an offense is justifiable... if the accused... believed such conduct necessary to avoid a public or private injury greater than the injury which might result from his conduct" (38-7-1). Now a question: Is it okay to trespass to save a life? The police, the firemen, the citizens do not protect. It's insane!

It is said, "The Supreme Court made it legal." Excuse me. I did not know killing could be made legal. The God who made us said not to kill. Are justices and judges bigger than God so that they can overrule Him? I decline to offer offense. They wear robes, but to me they look very naked. Thomas Jefferson said, "I cry for my country, when I contemplate the possibility that there may be a just God." T. J. Should be here now. He would cry a lot. FR. EDWIN ARENTSEN, Addicks, Ill.

Opposes legislation on radioactive wastes

To the Editor:
Highly toxic radioactive wastes from 37 nuclear reactors in ten or more states could be sent to Illinois for shallow land burial if the Midwest Compact (Senate Bill 1081) passes the Illinois Senate on or about Oct. 18. Geological survey maps show that Madison County could be the site for such a nuclear waste dump.

Only a tremendous expression of opposition from concerned citizens can stop this outrageous legislation from passing. Alert your state senator to the fact that proposed amendments do not correct the basic faults of Bill 1081: proliferation of nuclear waste sites and facilities throughout the Midwest and permission for shallow land burial. Since all landfill sites eventually leak, they should not even be considered for reactor wastes, which remain intensely radioactive for thousands of years. There is no way the state can responsibly monitor or prevent radioactive wastes from entering our drinking water supply for that period of time. To put the health and environment of Illinois citizens at such a risk is sheer folly. Governor Thompson and our state legislators should be so advised.

Writer feels trucks are a necessary evil

To the Editor:
This is in answer to the gentleman who calls himself "Downtown Worker" and is annoyed over traffic tickets at parking meters. I agree with you, sir. Parking meters are a pain, they are also taking away business from the downtown area. But, sir, as you say, trucks do concern you. If it weren't for trucks, how would you get anything delivered to the stores? How would you get the steel hauled out of this industrial city?

I know trucks can be dangerous, so can cars. Shall we ban them? People with children downtown should watch them when they cross the street. This is no small town anymore and you have to have trucks, just as you must have railroads if you are going to have jobs. We just have to learn to live together, because we all need each other. Times are too hard to argue.

Depot land sold as rail marshaling yard

The U.S. government has sold 44.05 acres of the Granite City Army Installation to A and K Railroad Materials, Inc., Salt Lake City, Utah, for $180,000. According to Susan Nixon, realty specialist for the General Services Administration (GSA), the land is part of a larger area of the installation which drew competitive bids in the Quad-City area in the late 1970s.

Initially, Granite City, Madison, Venice and the Tri-City Regional Port District, all of which enjoy the property, sought to buy it for industrial expansion. Mrs. Nixon said the land at that time was awarded to the Port but the transaction was never completed.

In the most recent sale process, the Port District again bid on the land, along with James Henderson of Granite City, Garland Midendorf of Hammond, Ind., Ernest Hood of West Alton, Mo., and A and K Railroad Materials, Inc. Mrs. Nixon said the materials company offered the highest amount.

A representative of the firm said the land is to be used as a railroad marshaling yard. Kern Schumacher of A and K Railroad Materials could not be reached for additional comment.

Local war hero remembers General MacArthur's famous return

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

This Thursday, Oct. 20, marks the 39th anniversary of General Douglas MacArthur's famous return to the Philippines. The general had left the islands for duty in Australia more than two years earlier. His return was a milestone in the eventual American victory over the Japanese.

For one Granite City war hero, the event seems like it happened only yesterday.

Mike G. Murgich, 1438 Grand Ave., was stationed on the U.S.S. Nashville, the ship that transported Gen. MacArthur back to the Philippines. Murgich's duty aboard the ship was in a water tender second class. He took care of the boilers in the fire room while the ship was underway. During battle stations, he worked in a repair unit on deck.

Oct. 20 wasn't the first time Murgich encountered MacArthur, however. In April of 1944, MacArthur was aboard the U.S.S. Nashville when the ship was in Humboldt Bay, New Guinea.

"I was playing a card game and somebody upstairs who knew what a 'pack rat' I was, asked me if I wanted MacArthur's autograph," said Murgich. "I said sure, so I gave him a dollar of my winnings and he came back with MacArthur's autograph on it. I was the only one who got his autograph on the ship."

Murgich still treasures the dollar bill today. "I think I'm going to donate it to a charity pretty soon, but I'd like to keep it somewhere in Granite City."

He met up with MacArthur again in October, when his ship returned MacArthur to Leyte in the Philippines. "Everybody on board was proud that MacArthur took our ship," said Murgich. "There was a lot of speculation as to why he picked our boat, but I think he did so because Nashville was the name of a big American city and he (MacArthur) wanted everything to be like Hollywood — you know — spectacular."

Murgich said his impressions of MacArthur were good and he scoffed at suggestions that the general was all show. "He (MacArthur) was no coward. Anybody that gets that many medals of honor ain't no coward," he stated. "One time, our ship dumped MacArthur off on an island and four or five of his top officers got killed, but he didn't leave. He stayed until his mission was done."

Murgich said he also disapproves of accusations that MacArthur practiced his landing at Leyte to make it look spectacular. "You don't have any rehearsals during the war. When you go into an island, you have to fire on it before you can land so that it's safe. You can't land and then come back out and say, 'Let's try it again fella's.'"

The return to Leyte was only one of 19 engagements in which Murgich participated on the U.S.S. Nashville.

"Shortly after the return to Leyte, our ship was cru-ing near Negros Island and was attacked by a kamikaze pilot, who killed 133 of our men," said Murgich. "I was playing cards in the number three fire room and I was getting ready to go topside, but I decided to play one more hand. It was about three in the afternoon. During that hand, the kamikaze hit our ship. If I'd have been on board, I probably wouldn't have made it."

The attack not only killed 133 men, but also injured 190. The plane inflicted extensive damage on the U.S.S. Nashville, causing the ship to return to the states temporarily to be repaired.

"The next day, we were lining up all the dead and we had the Japanese pilot lying in the area too, only away from the others. I went over and spit on him. He had killed a lot of my friends, but I realize now that what I did was a bad thing. He was a brave man. Not too many people I served with would have volunteered for a mission that way — sure to be a one-way flight — like he did."

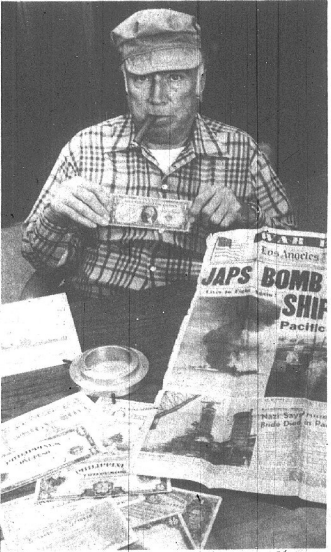

The news of the attack on the ship did not hit the papers in the states until June of 1945, six months after the event. "I think the reason for that was because a lot of men were deserting the Navy," said Murgich. "Everyone was afraid that his ship would be attacked by a kamikaze and your chances weren't too great of surviving if that happened. So the event was kept under cover and the kamikazes were kept top secret."

Murgich said he stayed aboard the U.S.S. Nashville until the war was over. "When we heard the news of the Japanese surrender, we went ashore on Borneo and had a big beer bust. Everyone was so happy."

After the war, Murgich returned to the states and has been employed as a carpenter ever since. The U.S.S. Nashville was used after the war as the flagship of the Chilean Navy. The ship has since been decommissioned, after 43 years of service.

WAR HERO. Mike Murgich, 1438 Grand Ave., was aboard the U.S.S. Nashville when it brought Gen. Douglas MacArthur back to the Philippines nearly 39 years ago. He reminisces about his war experiences in the related article.

United drive report meeting set for Friday

The Tri-Cities Area United Way will hold its second campaign report meeting Friday, Oct. 21, at 12 noon at the Community Club of the Granite City Army Depot.

All volunteer solicitors are being urged to attend. A Dutch treat luncheon will be served. Following the meal, the campaign chairman will ask for up-to-date pledge totals from group vice-chairmen.

The drive chairman is Thomas Majewski, American Steel Foundries assistant works manager. Bill H. Terrell is United Way president.

Buddy W. Davis, United Steelworkers of America District 34 director, will speak. District 34 is one of 24 Steelworkers districts in the U.S. and Canada and covers 4½ states, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Southern Illinois. Davis, a native of Alton, and his wife, Iola, have six sons and two daughters. He resides in Wood River and is a U.S. Navy veteran.

CROWE TO ADDRESS READING COUNCIL

The annual fall banquet of the Lewis and Clark Reading Council will be held Thursday, Oct. 20, at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant, Highway Three. Speaker will be Robert Crowe, author of the children's book, "Clyde Monster."

Crowe is superintendent of the Jacksonville schools. The buffet dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. and Crowe will begin speaking at 8 p.m. Interested parents, college students and teachers may attend.

Combining alcohol, drug treatment

A transition task force will help implement the new Illinois Department of Substance Abuse, which combines the state's Division of Alcoholism and the Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission.

The first meeting of the task force was held in Chicago today. Goals are to improve coordination of treatment for people who abuse both drugs and alcohol, improve public awareness of issues involving substance abuse, and reduce duplication of administrative, monitoring and evaluation functions within the state government.

"This group represents a broad spectrum of alcohol and drug abuse services. By drawing these people together, we will be able to use their knowledge and expertise to concentrate on the best ways to improve services and, as a state, have a greater impact on these critical problems. We want to ensure that when this agency begins work next year, there is a smooth transition from its predecessors," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

Legislation creating the new department was passed by the general Assembly this spring and was signed last month. The department will begin operation on July 1, 1984.

Two-cent tax hike for Venice schools

Venice taxpayers will see little increase in their property tax rate next year for schools — about two cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to the new tax levy authorized Tuesday night by the Venice Board of Education.

After a public hearing, board members approved a tax levy of $93.00 for 1983-84, an increase of only $12,300 over the current levy of $80,700.

The present tax rate, as extended by the county clerk, is $5.67 per $100 assessed valuation. Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

Next year's tax rate, based on the proposed 1983-84 levy, should amount to $5.69, or about a two-cent increase per $100 assessed valuation.

"This figure may vary slightly, depending on what the county clerk does with the extension," Supt. Vickers commented.

Although the tax rate increase was less than five percent (a public hearing is required on increases greater than five percent), Tuesday night's hearing was held on the advice of Board Attorney Michael Bilbrey, Superintendent Vickers explained.

The school board adopted its 1983-84 budget, amounting to $1,553,300 for the Venice Public Schools, at its last meeting. The new budget showed an increase of $121,559 over last year's figures.

An additional $618,000 budget also was adopted to operate the Venice Lincoln Technical Center, which is administered by the Venice School District, but financed through federal and state tax money.

The tax levy adopted Tuesday night sets a total of $460,000 for the educational fund, $65,000 for the operations, building and maintenance account and $8,000 for the working cash fund. All three funds remain the same as listed in the previous levy.

For transportation purposes, the sum of $24,000 was levied, a $3,000 increase over last year, $18,000 for Illinois Municipal Retirement, up $6,000 from last year, $2,500 for tort immunity, down $2,000, and $9,500 for worker's compensation fund, down $700.

Also in the new levy, a total of $6,400 is listed for the special education building fund, an amount not included in the previous levy.

GC auto repair zoning vote set Tuesday

Granite City Seventh Ward Aldermen Paul Ray Bowler and Michael Modrusic will continue their push at Tuesday's council meeting for a strict M-1 zoning status for automotive body repair shops and junk yards.

If successful, the zoning law would block plans for an automotive body shop on Pontoon Road in a portion of the Seventh Ward currently zoned a more restrictive C-5, highway commercial district.

Petitions from residents both for and opposing the shop have previously been presented to the council.

The dispute over the proposed business at 2701 Pontoon Road has spilled over into a disagreement between Mayor Paul Schuler and the two Seventh Ward aldermen and will apparently spur a review of the automotive and public garages locations.

The two-year old zoning law does not currently make provisions for either body shops or junk yards.

Earlier, the Plan Commission, which makes zoning recommendations to the council, had asked for the M-1 zoning for those two businesses. The council had unanimously backed the commissioners through confirmation of a motion made by Modrusic. The motion was later brought back to the council as a formal zoning amendment, but contained additional wording that would have permitted body shops in C-5 areas, under certain situations.

The change came as a surprise to Modrusic and Bowler, who discussed the matter with Schuler in a hastily-called recess at the Oct. 4 council meeting. As a result, the amendment did not reach the council floor.

Both Seventh Ward aldermen attended a Plan Commission meeting last Thursday, where Attorney

Leon G. Scroggins spoke in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kibort, who are leasing the Pontoon Road property in hopes of opening a federal design business and auto body shop there. Scroggins suggested the city "could be zoning after the fact" in this instance.

The matter had originally reached the council's attention after some aldermen complained about several zoning matters, including the automotive body shop preparing to open. Mayor Schuler had then promised to investigate the situation.

The mayor has recently asked the Plan Commission to investigate "public garages" zoning category. David Morgan, chairman of the Plan Commission, has announced he will seek advice from the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission on the matter.

Thomas R. Brimberry, awaiting trial Nov. 21, is seeking dismissal of two federal charges against him because he feels they violate a deal he made with prosecutors. Attorney Lawrence Fleming asked U.S. Magistrate Robert Kingsland on Thursday to drop two counts—selling excavating equipment and removing items from a Parkway Drive mansion. Brimberry is said to have testified about such activities in April 1982, five months after being granted immunity. The U.S. says no "deal" exists because Brimberry failed to abide by the terms.

Harry O. Moline, trustee in the Brimberry case, has asked U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert Brainer, who will hold a hearing Nov. 30, to approve final allocation of assets of the defunct Stix & Co. stock brokerage. Moline wants to distribute $2 million to 13 customer accounts that had assets valued at more than $500,000 each. He said the only customers who may actually lose money because of the fraud are Stix & Co. officers and directors, who by law have less protection than their clients. Once all customers are paid, Moline will continue to gather as many Stix assets as possible to repay the Securities Investor Protection Corp.

News Notes

Illinois Power Co. announced Saturday it is formally cancelling its second nuclear generating unit at Clinton. It is proceeding with a 900-megawatt reactor there. The decision to cancel the second reactor cites less electricity demand, higher costs and numerous federal stop-work orders. A spokesman said there will be requests for consumer rate increases, since the utility will have to pay at least $16 million for work already done and for cancellation of pending contracts at Clinton II.

Disconnection of property not being served by the Madison County special sewer service area was rejected last week by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson, who said petitioners will have to be refiled giving specific site descriptions.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar is telling 40,000 drivers they may lose their licenses temporarily because of unpaid parking tickets.

Applications for Madison probationary patrolman hiring are being given out at the City Hall. Testing is planned Nov. 21.

Missouri Avenue south of Pontoon Road will be closed to through traffic Oct. 24-28 due to railroad crossing reconstruction.

William L. Patton Jr. is the new president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Beverly Partney will lead the Women's Division.

William T. Brown, 64, of 509 Fillmore Ave., Venice, a lifelong resident of the community, died at 11:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 14, 1983, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. He was ill 10 days and was hospitalized for the same period of time.

Prior to retiring in July 1980, Mr. Brown was employed 35 years as a millwright at Granite City Steel, where he was a member of the United Steel Workers of America.

Funeral services were held Oct. 12 in Springfield, Ill., for Harvey L. Wilson, 70, of 1305 Monument Ave., Springfield, formerly of Granite City.

He died at 11:15 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 9, 1983, at Memorial Medical Center in Springfield.

Mr. Wilson served with the U.S. Navy during World War II and was employed for 31 years by Central Illinois Public Service Co. prior to retiring in 1978.

He was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and the Elks Lodge in Springfield.

Mr. Wilson was preceded in death by his parents, one brother, three sisters and three foster sisters.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Dorothy (Roberts) Wilson; four sons, Gary of Indianapolis, Ind., Donald at home, and Timothy and David, both of Springfield; one daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Elsner, Rock Island; one foster son, Jack Rigney of Springfield; two foster daughters, Mrs. Virginia Kunz and Mrs. Sheila Stewart, both of Springfield; 15 grandchildren and several nieces and nephews, one of whom resides in the Quad Cities.

Burial was in Oak Ridge Cemetery, Springfield.

$80,000 damage in GC house fire

Damage estimated at $85,000 resulted from a fire at the one-story brick and frame dwelling of Paul Dickerson, 3 Keith Drive, where firemen extinguished the blaze at 7:10 a.m. Sunday.

Estimated damage to the contents was listed at another $25,000. An electrical short in wiring to a light fixture in the kitchen apparently was the point of origin, reports said. Major damage occurred in the kitchen area.

Firefighters remained at the scene two hours.

MITCHELL SCHOOL PTA TIME CHANGE

The Mitchell School PTA will meet 7 p.m. Tuesday at the school.

The meeting had been announced for 7:30 p.m. starting time.

Rev. Paul Box

The Rev. Paul Henry Box, 72, a former Granite City pastor, died of a heart attack Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1983, at St. Anthony's Medical Center, St. Louis, where he had been taken after collapsing at his home in Arnold, Mo.

From 1946 to 1949, he was pastor of the Bryan Avenue Pentecostal Church, now the First United Pentecostal Church.

Born in Yonkers, N.Y., he was a secretary for executives of the former New York Central Railroad in the late 1930s. In 1945, he became associated with the United Pentecostal Church, including service as an assistant pastor in Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. Box was named editor of the church's chief publication, the Pentecostal Herald, in 1950 at St. Louis. He later held pastorates in New York City and Sherman, Texas, returning to St. Louis in 1955 to be the church's foreign mission secretary.

Based at the world headquarters, 8855 Dunn Road, Hazelwood, he held that position for 20 years until retiring in 1971.

He is survived by his wife, Olga Schultz Box of Arnold; a daughter, Carole Ann Kessler of Waterloo, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Hettie Smith of Shandaken, N.Y.; one brother, the Rev. Ernest Box of Surf City, N.J.; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, at the South County Christian Church in St. Louis County. Burial was at Shepard Hill Cemetery. Memorials may be made to the Foreign Mission Division of the United Pentecostal Church.

Somebody won the $6 million

Illinois State Lottery officials consulted their trusted computer today and determined there was a single winner of Saturday night's $6 million lotto grand prize. They are waiting for the individual to come forward with his ticket.

The winner will get $300,000 a year for 20 years.

The existence of the big prize prompted long lines for lotto tickets at many Quad-City sales locations last week, particularly on Friday and Saturday. As sales continued, the guarantee had been raised from $4.5 million on Monday to $5 million Wednesday, $5.5 million Thursday and $6 million Friday.

The winning combination of six numbers was 4, 12, 17, 19, 32 and 33; the alternate number was 24. Each buyer selects his own six from the numbers 1 through 40.

There are 3.9 million combinations of six numbers in each lotto grouping. For each $1 bet, the odds of matching all six winning numbers are about one in 1,900,000.

The odds may be steep, but they did not prove too difficult for one of the players Oct. 15.

LOGS IN YARD TAKEN

Two men in an orange van stole newly-cut wooden logs from the yard of Eric Skouby, 2820 Marshall Ave., last week.

Eulah Kellerman dies in Belleville

Mrs. Eulah E. Kellerman, 58, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, died at 2:15 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1983, at Four Fountains Convalescent Center, Belleville. She had been there for the past two months.

Born in Granite City, she was the daughter of the late Ardell and Ethel (Vaughn) Gieser.

She is survived by three sisters, Esta Brimer of East St. Louis, Bertha Stehl of Sunset Hills, Mo., and Anna Stahl of Edwardsville; and a brother, Leon Cochran of Carbondale.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Assembly of God Church, Edwardsville, with burial at Sunset Hill Cemetery.

BREAK GROUND FOR CENTER AT SHRINE

The Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows is announcing two building projects. Ground-breaking will be held for the Edwin J. Guild Evangelization Center and a 40-room Flanagan's Inn Motel addition on Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The Guild Center, a 5,500 square foot structure, will contain a 100-minute presentation using new techniques. The first presentation open to the public will be "The Power" in late spring.

PRESCHOOL STORYTIME AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Granite City Public Library will conduct two preschool storytime sessions on Thursday for children age 3 and older. Registration is required.

The first sessions will be 10 to 10:30 a.m. at the main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., and the second will be from 1:30 to 2 p.m. at the branch library, 6 Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

James Poff

James H. Poff, 83, 2837 Forest Ave., Granite City, died at 10:25 a.m. Friday, Oct. 14, 1983, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He had been hospitalized 16 days.

Mr. Poff was born in Tennessee and was a former resident of Orlando, Fla. He was self-employed as a contractor and retired in 1962. He was of the Baptist faith.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Ida Elizabeth (Pough) Poff, in 1971.

Among the survivors are one son, Benjamin, Poff; one daughter, Mrs. Mark (Mary Ann) Whitner, Orlando, Fla.; three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Gibson, Palmer, Tenn.; Mrs. Allene Newman, Union, Mo.; and Mrs. Mary Kay Pearson, Granite City; three grandchildren, and nieces and nephews.

Visitation was Sunday at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where services will begin at 1 p.m. today with the Rev. Carl Watkins and the Rev. B.E. Dutton officiating. Burial will be in St. Clair Memorial Park Cemetery, Fairview Heights, Ill. Memorials to the Arthritis Foundation are being requested.

Fern Thatcher

Mrs. Fern Hazel (Chapman) Thatcher, 94, of 2902 E. 25th St., was pronounced dead at her home at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, 1983, by Madison County Deputy Coroner William Stenberg.

Mr. Thatcher had not been ill recently, but was under a physician's care for several years with a heart ailment. She was standing at the front door of the home when she suddenly collapsed. A daughter was with Mrs. Thatcher at the time and summoned an ambulance, reports said.

Born May 12, 1889, in Staunton, Ill., Mrs. Thatcher resided in Granite City since 1974. Previously, she lived in Edwardsville.

She was of the Baptist faith and was a member of the Royal Neighbors of America.

Among the survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Marcella Gieser of Granite City and Mrs. Betty Jean Roberts of Housley, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. Helen Eilers of Staunton and Mrs. Myrtle Carroll of Trumanburg, N.Y.; nine grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Visitation begins at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Randolph Medical Center. Funerals, 2001 Madison Ave. Services will take place at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 19, at Glenview Chapel Assembly of God, Marysville, Mo., and Willow Avenue, with the Rev. Jim Callahan officiating. Burial will be in Staunton (Ill.) City Cemetery.

Q: In the past, you've cautioned against co-signing for loans. I wonder if you would explain exactly what risk the co-signer assumes and, are there any figures which indicate how often co-signed loans are defaulted. I've been asked to co-sign a personal loan for a friend, and I'm trying to exercise the caution you've suggested.

A: It's good practice to go into a co-signing arrangement with your eyes open, and also to be able to say "no" to a friend if you don't feel that the situation is in your best interests. You must realize that if the borrower can't (or won't) repay the loan, the lender can hold you responsible not only for the debt in the form of the original principal, but also the interest, any late charges plus any court costs and attorney's fees incurred in collecting the debt. How many such loans are defaulted leaving the co-signer "holding the bag"? Many more than you would expect. Almost 50 percent of the persons who co-sign loans are asked to pay for them.

Warriors win West Invitational consolation title

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — After a first round loss to the host Maroons of the Belleville West Invitational Volleyball Tournament Friday, the Warriors rallied to win the consolation championship with an impressive victory Saturday over Gateway East Conference rival Belleville Althoff.

The Granite City victory was the second this week over Althoff. Prior to Wednesday's victory, the Warriors had not defeated the Crusaders since 1977. In their first match, against West, the Warriors dominated throughout the final game. At one point Granite City led 13-9. Missed serves late in the game by the Warriors opened the door for the Maroons who scored six unanswered to take the first game 15-13.

The second game was a different story for the Granite City. The hard fought loss in the first game drained the Warriors who went down to defeat in the second game 15-5.

Saturday the Warriors stepped out on the court ready to win. The Mascoutah Indians were the first victims, lasting only two games 15-11, 15-10.

In the first game, Michelle Morgan served the Warriors to a 4-0 lead, before the Indians rallied to bring the score to 4-3. Lisa Lilley then served up four points for the Warriors to a 9-3.

Granite City continued to score and moved to a 11-7 lead before Mascoutah rallied to tie the score at eleven. A Lilley spike, which landed just out of reach of the Indians, put an end to the Mascoutah threat.

Anne Puhse and Lilley then combined to serve the Warriors to a first game victory.

In the second game, the Indians moved to a 4-1 lead before Lilley served five points to give her team the advantage 6-4.

The Indians fought back with two points of their own before a Morgan spike gave the ball back to the Warriors.

Kim Mushill added another spike for the Warriors to give them the lead 7-4.

Serving by Morgan combined with the spiking of Tammy Jones led the Warriors to a 12-6 lead, before an Indian time-out broke their momentum.

Mascoutah rallied with four points to make the score 12-10. Jones and Lilley combined for three more serves for points to give the Warriors the game 15-10.

Warrior Coach Wilma Schulze credited her team's win to improved play.

"I'm very pleased the way the girls are consistently getting better as the season goes along," stated Schulze.

She was especially pleased with the play of team co-captain Lisa Lilley.

"Lisa is playing much better. She is learning to hit sets that aren't perfect, instead of waiting for that perfect set," said Schulze.

The win over Mascoutah placed the Warriors in the consolation final against Althoff.

This match proved to be the best and most exciting match the Warriors have played so far this season.

In the first game Althoff moved to a 4-0 lead before the Warriors scored. Vicki Smith got her team on the board making the score 4-2.

Althoff then increased their lead to 6-3 with the help of spiker Cordi Rudolph.

Puhse's serving again kept the Warriors in the game and tied the score at eight. A spike by Smith and a Jones' dink helped Puhse tie the score.

The lead resumed throughout the game with the Warriors finally winning by the score of 15-12.

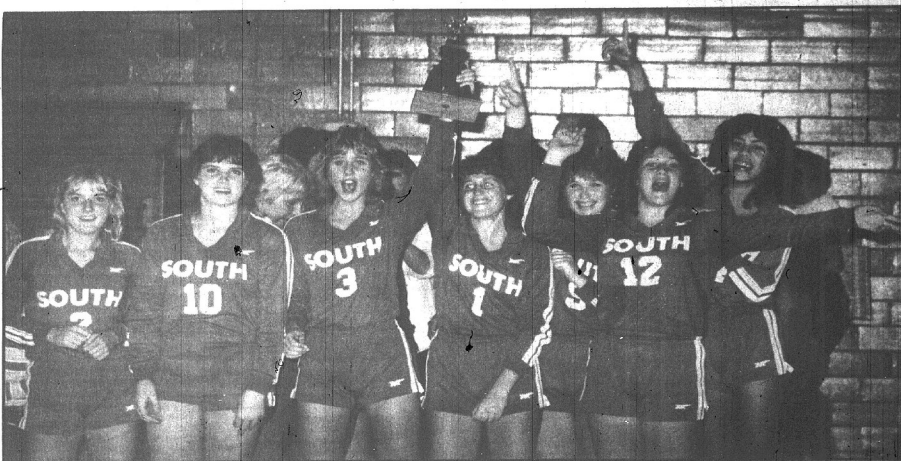

The second game was another very close one for the Warriors.

Granite City moved to a 9-6 lead before Althoff served five straight points to take the advantage 11-9.

Althoff continued to score despite some superb play by the Warriors and went on to win the game 15-9 and even the match at one game a piece.

The third game was a come from behind victory for the Warriors.

Althoff jumped to a 7-2 lead before an excellent Debbie Brandt spike got the ball back for the Warriors.

Super server Anne Puhse again helped out the Warriors serving up four straight points, including an ace serve.

Ace serves by Smith and Lilley tied the game for the Warriors. Althoff then moved ahead 10-9 on a serve by Rudolph.

Puhse again came through for the Warriors with an ace serve. An illegal substitution by Althoff gave the Warriors another point before Puhse added two more to give the Warriors a 15-11 lead.

Brandt added another point for the Warriors to make the score 14-11 before Althoff coach, John Rule, called for a timeout. With the pressure on, Brandt refused to be intimidated and served up another point to give the Warriors the victory.

After the match Coach Schulze was very pleased with her team's victory.

"I was much more excited about beating Althoff tonight. They played much better than they did when we beat them Wednesday," stated Schulze. "It was also our best match of the season."

Springfield Sacred Heart, the top rated team in the state, defeated Freeburg 15-10, 15-2 to win the tournament.

Granite City's next match is tonight at 6:30 at home against another conference rival Edwardsville.

On The Gridiron

Crusaders crush Warriors 14-0

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — If you combine Granite City's passing and Belleville's Althoff's running, you'd have one heck of a football team.

In Saturday's Gateway East Conference football game between the two schools, the Warriors picked up 194 yards in the air and the Crusaders picked up 256 yards on the ground.

Conversely, if you combine Granite City's running and Althoff's passing, you'd have one poor excuse for a football team.

The Warriors' backfield, including five quarterback sacks, rushed for minus-eight yards. Althoff's passing game wasn't much better. The Crusaders picked up only three yards in their.

Statistically, Althoff's running game outdid the Warrior's passing game, and that was the way it appeared on the scoreboard as well. Althoff 14, Granite City 0.

Granite City Coach Tom Wyrostek and Althoff Coach Glenn Schott knew that their respective passing and running games were going to be the offensive tools. Neither team deviated from the game plan very much.

"You got to do what you do best," Warrior Coach Tom Wyrostek said. "Our passing game is what's been working the best. Althoff just wanted the game more than we did."

"We're a running team, or that's what everyone tells us," Althoff Coach Glenn Schott said. "We belted-up and would the job when we had to do it."

Indeed, the Crusaders, not the War-

"We were there, close enough to score. Then Althoff would put a little more effort in their defense and we couldn't score. They wanted to stop us, and that was the difference."

Tom Wyrostek
Warrior football coach

riors, were the opportunists in the battle of the conference rivals. Althoff used most of the first quarter to score the first touchdown, and then Althoff used two explosive runs in the fourth quarter to score the second touchdown.

Althoff needed 15 plays to move the ball 71 yards in the first quarter. The beauty of the drive was that the Crusaders stopped the clock only once other than for moving the chains, in the drive, and that was on an incomplete pass.

The series consisted mainly of three, four and five yards runs, but there were some variations. Althoff quarterback Curt Marchand faked a pass and ran 12 yards instead. Marchand also had a five yard quarterback keeper.

The final triumph belonged to Kevin Schott, the son of the Althoff coach. Schott ran three yards for the touchdown and ran 37 yards in the drive. For the game, Schott ran for 123 yards.

The second touchdown drive wasn't quite as drawn out, but it was equally as effective as the first drive. After stopping a Warrior drive at the Althoff 40-yard line with 4:47 to play, the Crusaders put together four short running plays. Then came the fireworks.

Althoff halfback Dave Jordan squirmed through the middle, skipped through several Warrior tackles, and raced down the left sideline for a 43-yard play to send Althoff to the Warrior 10-yard line. On the next play, the younger Schott ran around the right side of the line for the touchdown.

In prior games, the Althoff offense wasn't working very well at all. The Crusaders spent too much time on the defense. This time around, the defense had plenty of rest and Schott knew the reason why.

"Our offensive line came up quicker than it had before this game. They moved Granite City back and gave our runners some places to run," Schott said.

Wyrostek agreed with the assessment. "Obviously, they beat us on the line. That's why they were able to give their runners some holes," he said.

Granite City didn't fall from a lack of trying. The Warriors didn't take advantage of all of the opportunities Althoff gave them to score.

In the second quarter, Jon Steck recovered a lost fumble for the Warriors at Althoff's 35-yard line. After an off-side penalty, two passes from Shane Cole to Terry Rupawitz and Jim Moad moved the ball 25 yards to the Althoff 15-yard line.

However, the Warriors couldn't gain any yardage of the first play at the 15, and Cole was sacked by Althoff's David Mitchell on the next play. The next pass was incomplete, and the Warriors were called for unsportsmanlike conduct on the play, so the ball was moved back to the 40. The Warriors had to punt.

Thanks to a poor Althoff punt, the Warriors picked up the ball at the Crusader 30-yard line. An 18-yard pass play to Tom Adamitis moved the ball Althoff's 12-yard line. After two incomplete passes, Cole hit Kurt Hylla for a nine-yard gain. One fourth down, Althoff's defense stopped Moad a yard short of the first down, stopping that drive.

The Warriors were inside the Althoff 40 one more time, but an interception by Schott stopped that drive. The Warriors' Eric Graves picked off a pass on the next play, but the Warriors couldn't set up a drive.

Granite City did not pass the Althoff 40-yard line again.

"You have to be able to take advantage of the opportunities to score. We didn't because Althoff's defense took advantage of its opportunities to stop us," Wyrostek said.

"We were there, close enough to score. Then Althoff would put a little more effort in the defense and we couldn't score. They wanted to stop us, and that was the difference," Wyrostek said.

The game was the last contest between the two schools as members of the Gateway East Conference. Next year, Granite City will be in the Southwestern Conference while Althoff will remain an independent.

"There's no way the conference could mean anything to either team. There's no state playoff berth involved. That means a good team won't have a chance at making the playoffs," Wyrostek said.

Granite City is 2-3 and Althoff is 3-2. Both teams are eliminated from playoff contention.

Greyhounds outdistance Trojans 5-1

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

LEBANON — Coming off a big win can have two effects.

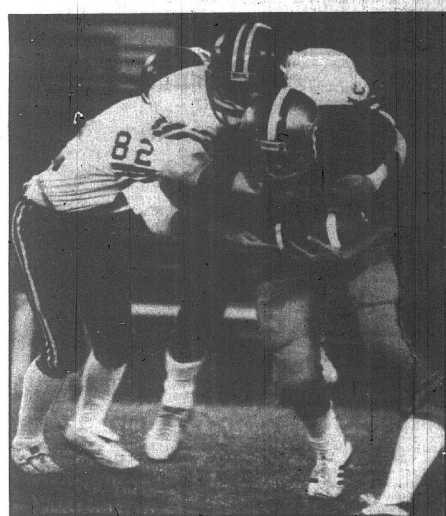

It can enable you to remember what you did right so you can do it again, or it can send you into a state of lackluster, thinking another win will happen on its own.

Thursday afternoon, the latter was the rule for the Madison High School kickers as the Trojans to Lebanon to face the Greyhounds. The end result was a 5-1 loss to the 'Hounds.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Trojans defeated Bethalto 3-0. But on Thursday things were to be different.

Winds were blowing goal to goal at nearly 30 mph. and in the first quarter the Hounds had the winds at their backs and capitalized on it.

Only 4:22 into the game, Lebanon's Jerry Wolford shot a sharply angled bouncing shot past Gary Campbell, the Madison goal keeper.

afternoon assisted by Rich Weber.

At halftime Madison coach Gene Briggs tried to get some life into his players, but those efforts failed, at least on the offense end of the field.

Midway through the third quarter, Lebanon picked up their fifth goal on a fuke play from a sideline throw-in. The throw-in actually scored without touching anyone on the field.

After the ball went out of bounds off of a Madison player, Lebanon's Mike Ogden picked up the ball to throw it in about five yards from the corner of the field. The wind was blowing so strongly towards the Trojans that when he threw in, the ball sailed over Campbell's head and blew into the corner of the net.

After that all of what little heart was there went out of the Trojans. The Trojans' only score came on a penalty kick by Michael Young in the fourth quarter.

Madison will face Waterloo High School tonight at Madison. Game time is 4 p.m.

Cougars run over Trojans; win 26-8

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

BREESE — Madison Trojan football coach Don Smith knew that Friday's game with the Breese Central Cougars would be a long, long game the second the Trojans hit the field.

"We started the game like we were asleep, and I knew it was going to be a very long game, and it was," Smith said.

Actually, the game went by rather quickly, but it seemed like eternity for Smith and the Trojans. Breese Central sped for 267 yards rushing, including 201 yards by halfback Ken Luebbers, and ran to a 26-8 win over the Trojans in Breese.

"We came out and played our worst game of the season," Smith said, "it made me sick. This was a poor effort for us. We've played bigger and much faster players much better. We played better against teams whom Breese Central couldn't come close to beating."

Breese Central knew they couldn't pass against the Trojans because of Madison's superior speed in the backfield. The Cougars also knew they couldn't run outside on the Trojans for the same reason. The obvious solution: run up the middle.

"That's what we wanted to do every play," said Breese Central coach Dennis Gatchel. "We wanted one player running the ball and 10 people in front of him. We didn't want to put the ball up in the air at all."

The Cougars did put the ball in the air three times for the entire game. All of the other offensive plays were running plays, and the Cougars did almost anything they wanted to do on the ground.

Although the Cougars' blocking helped immensely, the Trojans did their share to help the Cougars. Madison constantly tried to arm tackle the more physical Cougar running backs, and people like Luebbers were able to drag the Trojans with them for extra yardage.

"We did a lot of arm tackling tonight," Smith said. "I didn't think we had to resort to that because we had been tackling well most of the season. You can't arm tackle against a good team because they'll take advantage every time you do."

Madison was most generous to Luebbers. The senior halfback averaged nearly seven yards per carry, and that was too much for Madison to handle. Luebbers also scored three of the Cougars' four touchdowns.

"We've got a very strong and good running back in Luebbers," Gatchel said. "He's 195 pounds and he can bench press 300 pounds. He's a very hard runner to defend against because he's so strong."

The Trojans were also very generous to the Cougars. Madison committed four turnovers, two fumbles and two interceptions, which aided the Cougar offense.

On the Trojans' second possession, Luke Timmerman recovered a Madison fumble at the Trojans' 32 yard line. Central used six running plays, including four by Luebbers, to score. Luebbers took the ball the final six yards for the touchdown, which came with 4:50 to go in the first quarter. Tim Hopcus's PAT was good.

With nearly a minute left in the quarter, Madison fumbled the ball, and the Cougars recovered it. Luebbers took the first play for 11 yards. Timmerman took it eight more yards to the Trojan's one-yard line. Luebbers charged in the final yard on the first play of the second quarter.

Madison scored its only touchdown on an impressive passing play. Quarterback Victor Valentine found tight end Delander Crookwell for a 33-yard touchdown pass down the left sideline. Kelly Scrum ran in the conversion to cut the Cougars' lead to 14-8.

After scoring a touchdown and stopping a long Cougar drive at the Madison 14-yard line, it appeared the Trojans picked up the momentum. With 2:42 to go, Madison put together an 11-play, 82-yard drive. However, the drive stopped with eight seconds left in the half and missing three of the last four pass plays of the drive.

On the Trojans' first possession in the second half, Madison moved the ball to the Cougars' 25-yard line. The drive ended when Timmerman intercepted one of Valentine's passes. On Madison's next series, the Trojans moved the ball to the Cougars' 36-yard line. However, Brian Knapp intercepted another Valentine pass to end the drive.

"Our defense gave up a lot, but when we needed to stop them, we did," Gatchel said.

The second interception set up the Cougars' third touchdown. Three plays after the pickoff, Luebbers sprinted 43 yards down the left sideline, evading three Madison defenders on the way to the goal line.

Central's final touchdown came on a 75-yard drive which climaxed with a one-yard touchdown plunge by Hopkus, the Cougar quarterback. A 24-yard completion from Hopkus to Knapp set up the touchdown. The pass was the only one the Cougars completed in the game.

"The interceptions seemed to take them out of the game. They had the momentum going until the second interception in the third quarter," Gatchel said.

The Trojans, 2-4 this season, played without running back defensive back Avery Blockton in the second half. Blockton injured his shoulder in the second quarter.

Madison meets 6-0 Dupu Friday in a 7:30 p.m. game in Dupu. The Tigers defeated East St. Louis Assumption 14-13 Saturday and knocked Assumption out of the undefeated ranks.

Warriors shut out again; fall to SLUH

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — Momentum.

It's the single most important factor in an athletic contest. The teams which have the momentum create opportunities and invariably win. Those teams which don't are seldom as successful.

As ever significant? Perhaps. But the Warriors' 4-0 loss to St. Louis University High Saturday night was just that simple.

"We had the opportunities to score. Basically that was the difference," explained Eddie Dunn, SLUH's 29-year coach. Dunn couldn't have summed it up any better.

"The momentum was with them in the first half, but in the second half it was with us. We capitalized on the momentum change and our opportunities."

Conversely, the Warriors have not been able to capitalize in on their own momentum. Saturday's loss to SLUH dropped their record to 12-3-2 and marks their third scoreless game in a week.

In their final game of last week's Tournament of Champions, Riverview Gardens shut out the Warriors 1-0 to eliminate them from the tourney. On Thursday, the Warriors battled Gateway East Conference rival Cahokia to a 0-0 tie — not a loss but it can't be counted in the win column either.

Because of those two previous shutouts, Saturday's loss was particularly frustrating for the Warriors. Had they won it would have marked a turn around. As it was, the loss only prolongs their frustration and their apparent talismans. And, with regional competition beginning this Saturday, Warrior Coach Gene Baker admits his team has its work cut out for them.

"Evidently, we're not as good as some people thought were, but we're not as bad as others think we are either," Baker said. "We've got a lot of work ahead of us, but I think we can get there."

Baker said referring to his team's preparation for the regional. Granite City's inability to score against the Junior Bills fanned the frustration which began three games ago. That frustration led to three Warrior yellow cards — one in the first half and two in the second — one each to Nathan Crane, Mike Houston and Paul Macios.

Although the Warriors did not score against the Junior Bills, it wasn't because they didn't try. In the first half Saturday, the Warriors outshot SLUH 6-1 and nearly scored on two occasions at SLUH's goal mouth.

At the eight-minute mark and again 23:15, the Warriors' Nan Crane dribbled downfield unmolested to take a pair of shots at SLUH's Matt Kemmer. The first was wide and the other was blocked by the SLUH goalkeeper.

In the second half, the Warriors battled the Junior Bills even. At 64:30, on a header by Troy Moore following Brent Cook's sideline throw-in, the Warriors appeared to break the 0-0 deadlock.

The spunky senior back's shot had the accuracy but too much height as it just cleared the crossbar.

Then came the momentum change. SLUH took possession and marched downfield. Forward Dave Scharf passed to Paul Mataya who passed to junior forward Mike Unger who slapped a shot past Warrior goalie Jeb Blasigame for the game's only score.

The strong shot, which zipped past Blasigame's outstretched arms, was only a taste of what was yet to come.

For the last 10 minutes of the contest, the Bills besieged the Warrior defense with five attempts on goal. Blasigame deflected one. Smothered another. Another got by the junior keeper but hit the right upright and deflected away from the goal. Still another, a powerful shot by Scharf, hit the football upright, part of the Warriors' goal standard.

In short, the Warrior defense failed under SLUH's opportunistic attack, but Blasigame was there to take up the slack.

The Warriors' last attempt to even the score came with 17 seconds remaining. Senior back Matt Sheridan blasted a penalty kick at the SLUH goal, but Kemmer was there to make the save.

The Warriors take to the field this afternoon as they host Althoff. Action begins at 4 p.m.

The season with all of its losses coming in the tough MJCAA conference. The Stars are looking now to Tuesday for redemption with Lewis and Clark Community College. Lewis and Clark soundly defeated GCC in their season opener, 7-0.

"We have a natural rivalry between us," Petri said of the team that will probably receive the number one seed in the regional tournament. "We're going to try to upset them."

Even if GCC manages to get the upset, Lewis and Clark in all probability will still receive the bid because of goal differential.

The rematch will begin at 4 p.m. on the soccer field behind the Granite City Center.

Park offers hunters' safety course

The Granite City Park District will be sponsoring a Hunter's Safety Course as one of its Fall Programs.

Beginning July 1, 1976 no hunting licenses were issued to any person under 16 years of age unless he presented the person authorized to issue such license evidence that he held a hunting license issued by the State of Illinois or another state in a prior year, or a certificate of competence.

The Park District will offer a course for fathers and sons in wildlife management, firearms safety, first aid, hunter ethics, and survival techniques. Illinois law requires each hunter to have a certificate of competence for all persons under age 16.

Sessions will be on Tuesday, Nov. 15, Thursday, Nov. 17 and Friday, Nov. 18, at the Brown Recreation Center starting at 6 to 9 p.m. The classes will be taught by Al Fuller.

It is compulsory that persons must attend each session in order to qualify for a completed course. All boys must be accompanied by an adult.

Stars rebound to pick up two wins

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — After playing two tough games early last week against powerhouses Florissant Valley and Meramec Junior Colleges, the Granite City Stars were ready for a break in the competition. And Thursday and Friday they got just that.

On Thursday and Friday the Stars hosted two Chicago area schools, coming up with their ninth and 10th victories of the season, and did it with some big numbers.

They defeated Harper College on Thursday, 4-0, and bounced the College of DuPage on Friday, 6-1, playing the reserves for most of the second half.

On Friday the Stars, formerly the Belleville Area College Dutchmen, avenged a 3-0 loss to DuPage a year ago.

The game quickly became a showcase for the GCC talent, starting with the first goal from Rick Moder, who fired a spinning kick off a DuPage player into the net at 14:16.

Three minutes later Tim Dean scored and at 33:05 John Reinegger dribbled past DuPage defenders, scoring the Stars' third goal.

It was a rough day for DuPage all around, illustrated by Rich Sharp's unassisted goal with only one second remaining in the half.

The second half started out even more quickly for GCC than the first. On 54 seconds into the half, Jim Doyle fired a short pass to Rich Hensler who buried the ball in the goal from 25 yards out.

The last goal was probably the artistic best. Benny Nolan took the ball against three DuPage defenders and fired a bullet into the upper right of the goal to score GCC's final goal.

"We stuck to our style of play, the short passing game," GCC coach Larry Petri said. "We shut down their offense with a good stiff defense."

"It was a good game for us. Wednesday we played bad. This weekend we played up to our potential."

Page scored their only goal on a chest roll after a deflection by Stars goalie Joe Lemaster at the 76:46 mark.

The victory brings the Stars to 10-3-0 years of age or 40 lbs. overweight. Persons interested should call to sign up, 931-5300.

The class will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8 to 9 p.m. A class size of 15 is necessary to hold the session.

The tests are: general information, numerical operations, attention to detail, word knowledge, arithmetic reasoning, space perception, mathematics knowledge, electronic information, mechanical comprehension, general science, shop information, and automotive information.

The scores on these tests are combined into scores on the following composites: verbal, mathematics, perceptual speed, mechanical, trade technical and academic ability.

There is no cost or obligation involved in taking the test. Interested seniors are, to see Al Rowden or sign up in the attendance office.

Arrest woman at shopping center

The manager of Fashion Gal, 3801 Nameoki Road, said a woman came into the store and allegedly removed a black and white blouse and a shirt, placing the items in an auto last week.

The auto was located in the parking area, but a woman in the car did not match the description of the suspect who had disappeared. However, the missing garments were on the floorboard of the vehicle, together with some other items, police alleged.

Elmira K. Williams, 22, of 112 Venice Homes, Venice, denied taking the clothing and said she did not know where the second woman had gone. Officers ordered the car towed and the property inside to be inventoried.

Miss Williams was charged with theft by possession of stolen property. She pleaded innocent in a court appearance the same day and bond was set at $500. A mittimus was issued and she was transferred Wednesday to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

STEALS STEREOS

Two AM-FM cassette stereos valued at $160 were stolen from the P.N. Hirsch store, 3229 Nameoki Road, by a man described in his middle 30's, about 6 feet tall and weighing 200 pounds, with a short Afro haircut. The thief got into a station wagon and drove north on Nameoki Road, reports said.

WILLIAMS IN NATO MILITARY EXERCISE

Army Specialist 4 Rodney G. Williams, son of Eugene and Cynthia Williams of 1707 Collinsville Ave., Madison, was involved in a NATO-sponsored exercise, participating in the Army's return of forces to Germany (Reforger) and the Air Force's Crested Cap exercises.

The exercises are designed to develop uniformity of doctrine, standardize procedures for rapid response to a crisis, and demonstrate solidarity in commitment to North Atlantic Treaty Organization goals and objectives. Williams, an air-defense operations assistant with the 3rd Armored Division in Budeggen, West Germany, is a 1977 graduate of Madison High School.

Pleads innocent to five charges

Scott A. Howell, 25, of 2114 Adams St., appeared in the Granite City court last week and entered innocent pleas to five charges, including unlawful use of a weapon and battery.

The three other charges were contained in active warrants and alleged battery, criminal damage to property and criminal trespass to land.

Bond was set at $61,000 and a mittimus was issued. Howell was transferred Wednesday morning to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Unlawful-weapon use and battery charges were filed in connection with a weekend incident taking place at an address in the 1700 block of Maple Street, where officers were called in reference to an alleged stabbing.

In a bedroom at the residence, police found Cheryl Turner of the 2100 block of Adams with a stab wound to her stomach. She allegedly told Howell came to the dwelling, the home of a relative, and an argument ensued.

When she asked him to leave, he began calling her obscene names and allegedly stabbed her with a silver pocket knife before running from the house, Miss Turner told police.

Soon afterward, Howell was seen walking west on 20th street at Leyden Avenue. He was taken into custody on the active warrants and held for investigation of the incident in which the woman was injured.

Miss Turner was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Cyclist hurt on 'Jungle Gym'

Robert C. Veach, 17, of 2465 St. Clair Ave., was injured last week when the motorcycle he was operating in the 2000 block of Johnson Road veered into an open field and struck playground equipment at Frohardt School.

Veach was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of lacerations to the forehead and right leg.

The youth was traveling west on Johnson Road when his machine turned into a field on the east side of Frohardt School and continued south until colliding with a jungle gym, situated next to the school's blacktopped playground.

Veach was charged with being in violation of classification and the city curfew ordinance. He was released to a parent on notice to appear for a hearing.

Future Secretaries install new officers

The Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association held its first monthly meeting and installed the following officers: president, Jenny Will; vice president, Cindy Miller; recording secretary, Sharon O'Toole; corresponding secretary, Angie Fuller; treasurer, Anita Holmes; board members, Kathy Kopsic and Crystal Nance.

The program for the evening was a panel of FSA alumni. Those on the panel included 1982 graduates Debbie Hundley and Renee Stark, both employed at A. G. Edwards & Sons in St. Louis; 1981 graduate Kathy Pendegress, employed at Center Bank in St. Louis; and 1979 graduate Karen Doty, employed at Tri-City Eye Center in Granite City. They talked about their jobs and how they felt FSA helped them on their jobs. Several girls pointed out that you shouldn't be discouraged if you don't get the first job you interview for. All members of the panel agreed that FSA is a big plus on job applications.

The business segment of the meeting was called to order by President Jenny Will. She began by introducing the new officers, and then explained what FSA is about, such as meeting working people and hearing a panel of speakers.

Next order of business was discussing money making projects. A committee was appointed to plan a project to raise money. The FSA International Convention will be held March 9 and 10, at the Clarion Hotel in St. Louis. The Tri-Cities Chapter of FSA (Madison High School and Granite City High School) have been asked to be hostesses of the convention. This will include registration, greetings, etc., the president said.

Members present from the Tri-Cities Chapter of Professional Secretaries International, the sponsoring chapter of FSA, included Sharon Werner, Beverly Taylor and Twila Edmonds.

The next monthly meeting will be held Oct. 25 and will be a candle light ceremony of initiation of new members. Parents of all returning members and new members are invited to attend, Miss Will added.

Home Computer is Trio Unit program

"Computer Use In The Home" was the subject of a lesson illustrated by a slide presentation given by Janet Triot Unit at Hope Lutheran Church.

Chairman Arlene Brinkmeyer opened the meeting and introduced guest speaker who is the newly appointed associate extension advisor for the Homemakers Extension in Edwardsville.

Roll call was answered by 21 members and one guest, Juanita McCarty. A discussion was held on a recent tour of Mrs. Edward Lovens' home and lunch at the Cafe Tree Box in Highland.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Vivian Forshoe, secretary, Mrs. Ivan Graklanoff, treasurer, and Lucille Sackett, membership chairman.

Mrs. Maribel Lybarger, first vice-chairman, assumed her office and planned for future lesson participation for the 1983-84 year.

Craft Chairman Helen Edwards displayed examples of crafts to be taught at the Nov. 1 workshop. Each one attending is to bring a sack lunch and materials to make a fireside brick, bell pull or yule tree. Guests are invited to attend the session, according to the chairman.

Mrs. Brinkmeyer announced the Southwest District meeting will convene at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 2, at the Venice Recreation Center and will be hosted by the Venice Madison Home Extension Unit.

Unit members completed plans for a trip on Oct. 25 to Jerseyville, Ill., and a Christmas party on Dec. 6.

Mrs. Clara Schillinger collected the Pennies for Friendship donations and prizes were then awarded to Mrs. Schillinger, Mrs. Sackett and Mrs. Roosenor.

Garden Club aids Lincoln Gardens

Members of the Garden Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Will Winter, 416 Vine Blvd., for a monthly meeting and agreed to send a contribution to the Lincoln Memorial Gardens in Springfield, Ill.

President Margaret Huesman opened the meeting with the club collect followed by roll call with each one giving the name of their favorite fern.

Plans were announced for the District V Garden Club of Illinois board meeting to be held Oct. 20 at Rascals Restaurant in Collinsville, and the President Council

Day set for Oct. 27 in Mount Olive, with the Green Oaks Garden Club to serve as hostesses.

The program for the day was on preparation of gardens for the winter months and care of perennials, given by Mrs. Catherine Kostoff.

Also present were Mrs. Marie Eads and Mrs. Helen Minu.

The Nov. 2 meeting will be a potluck and pressed flower arrangement workshop in the home of Mrs. Marian Wright, 2341 Arnold Drive, the president added.

Pizza sale winners honored at meeting

Students of Marshall School participated in a fund raising project by selling Pizza from Mr. Z during the previous month and the top sellers were accorded special honors at a meeting of the PTA.

There were 100 pupils involved in the event and they sold 400 pizzas. Each child who sold over 12 items received a prize and there were approximately 10 children whose sales topped $100.

The project will continue every other month during the school term, it was announced.

Top salesmen were Amy Boring, first; Deanna Mercer, Amy Hall, Julie Alvers and Dennis Morris.

MRS. PERJAK

BPW to hear Mrs. Perjak

Mrs. Sharon Perjak, third ward alderwoman in Granite City, will be the featured speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's Club, Wednesday, at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Mrs. Perjak also is serving her second term as precinct committeewoman for Precinct 20. She is a member of Madison County Mental Health Citizens' Advisory Board and is employed as executive secretary at Peckham Guyton Albers & Vets, Inc., an architectural firm in St. Louis.

The guest speaker is the mother of two children, Lisa and Mike.

The public is invited to attend the legislative dinner and for reservations are to call Lavelle Stephens at 876-5884.

COMMUNITY CHORAL SOCIETY OPENINGS

Openings still exist for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Community Choral Society, according to Director Leonard Van Camp. All interested singers should attend the next rehearsal on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 1402, Peck Classroom Building.

The Choral Society is open to students, faculty and staff of SIUE, and members of the community at large. Along with the SIUE Concert Choral and University Chorus, the Community Choral Society will sing in a performance of Handel's "Messiah" on Dec. 4.

Women of the Moose fetes student nurse

Members of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 247, hosted a tea to honor a student nurse who is sponsored by the chapter. There were approximately 50 members and guests attending the social event planned and arranged by Christine Von Nida, hospital chairman.

Mrs. Vernie Von Nida, chapter recorder, introduced the new nurse candidate, Christine Laughlin and presented her with a check on behalf of the chapter. Miss Laughlin is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Nursing.

Officers attending the affair were Sylvia Woods, past senior regent, Lois Smith, treasurer and Pat Macke, chairman.

Games were played during the afternoon and the grand winner received a gift from the hostesses.

Tea, coffee and cookies were served and the guest honor was presented with a box of homemade cookies.

The attendance prize went to Mrs. Woods.

Senior Regent Benetta Boyd conducted a business meeting the following week at the Moose Lodge with 35 members present.

She introduced a past grand council member, Mary Christian from Maplewood, Mo., who spoke on "Friendship and Harmony."

During the meeting, Billie Setcklin introduced Emily Rains as library chairman for one year and Anna Kuzma was selected as co-worker for the month.

New members accepted were, Kathleen Walker and Lisa Casor, both sponsored by Elle Tervasi.

Reports were given by Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Von Nida, Edna Miller, Pat Macke, Marian Lipscomb, Mrs. Seif, Mariolu Wilkinson, Theola Garcia, Clara Johnson and Mildred Votupol, on the recent convention held in Peoria.

Junior Graduate Regent Sylvia Woods announced she received a letter from Mooseheart headquarters noting the chapter achieved the Award of Achievement and that she will receive her Green Cap at a convalesce for Oct. 30 in Mattoon, Ill.

The senior regent also reminded the members to bring can foods for baskets to be distributed to the needy families in the area.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elle Tervasi and members of the publicity committee. Those winning prizes in the games were Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Smith and Cindy Rothmeyer.

AFTERNOON GUILD SEES SAFETY FILM

The St. John United Church of Christ Afternoon Guild viewed a safety film produced by the American Association of Retired Persons, Hans Jensen presented the film.

Also discussed was the church's annual rummage sale, which has been set for Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 9 and 10, in the church Fellowship Hall.

Prior to the meeting, a dessert luncheon was served. Helen Pfeiffer was in charge of the serving committee.

There is no charge for admission to the play. There is limited seating capacity, and reservations may be made by calling the theater office at 892-3773.

Marshall PTA to meet Tuesday

The October business meeting of Marshall School PTA will be held Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium, according to Don Kopp, principal.

The announcement was previously made at a buffet supper hosted by the PTA Unit for the 80 volunteer room mothers. Co-chairmen were Kathy Jaros and Jennifer Hoffman.

Carolyn Sykes gave the invocation followed by a get acquainted hour and discussion for the annual school Halloween party.

The autumn event will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 31, and prior to the party the students will parade down Wabash Avenue to Clark Avenue, then return to the school. Police escorts will accompany the parade, according to the principal.

All parents are invited to attend and new members will be enrolled, the officer noted.

Mothers Club honors members

Mrs. Lennie Lore and Josephine Vangel were accorded special honors on their birthdays and presented with a gift by members of the Lincoln Place Mothers Club during a meeting held at the Community Center.

President Irene Goede led the group in the pledge to the flag and Lord's Prayer. Reports were given by Rose Merchoff, secretary, and Virginia Kittel.

Plans were discussed for the club Christmas party with final arrangements to be announced later.

Refreshments were served by Rose Merchoff, Dorothy Petrillo and Florence Paul followed by a game session. Prizes were then awarded to Mary Andria, Karen DeCoursey, Mrs. Goede, Mrs. Kittel, Anna Kuruz, Verna Michel, Rose Schmidt, Mrs. Vangel, and Anna Velloff.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 2, the president announced.

DAUGHTER VISITED BY MRS. MICHELIS

Mrs. Joe Michels has returned after a three-week visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James A. Stoffer of Greeley, Colo.

Mrs. Michels attended the Sept. 20 graduation of grandson Patrick Stoffer from the Colorado Institute of Art.

The ceremonies were conducted at the Denver Merchandise Mart and the Stoffer family hosted a reception buffet the following day in Greeley. ## NEW SIX COLUMN FORMAT BEGINS NOVEMBER 3RD

Beginning THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD, THE PRESS-RECORD will convert to a six column format. Joining literally thousands of other newspapers across the U.S., we will adopt the newspaper industry "SAU" Standard Advertising Unit format. The "SAU" format has been adopted by the newspaper industry to standardize newspaper advertising and news formats to provide uniformity to American Newspapers.

There are significant advantages not only for the newspapers themselves, but also for advertisers and readers alike. The six column format will allow us to set our news and features in a type measure that will be much easier to read. Because the six column format utilizes wider columns and a more modular page design, readers will notice that the paper appears less cluttered, better organized and more pleasing to the eye. Our front page has been designed using this format since 1975.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS

THE CHANGE OVER TO THE NEW FORMAT WILL RESULT IN CHANGES IN PRICING OF ADVERTISEMENTS. THE COST PER SQUARE INCH OF SPACE WILL REMAIN THE SAME, BUT DIFFERENT WIDTHS OF COLUMNS WILL ALTER THE SQUARE INCHES PER COLUMN. THE COLUMN SIZE IN THE CLASSIFIED SECTION WILL REMAIN IN OUR PRESENT 8 COLUMN FORMAT... CLASSIFIED PRICING WILL NOT CHANGE.

SHOWN BELOW ARE SOME EXAMPLES OF OLD AND NEW COLUMN WIDTHS

Madison Seniors plan dinner dance

Madison Senior Citizens will conduct their annual dinner dance on Thursday at the Madison Recreation Center.

The event will begin at 5 p.m. The public is invited, and those participating may wear Halloween costumes.

At the club's last business meeting, President Genevieve McClure called the group to order. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Frances Baker and reports were given by committees.

The Madison Senior Citizens Band entertained for the American Association of Retired Persons at the Granite City Township Hall last week, it was noted.

The meeting was concluded with refreshments and a social hour.

Halloween Wonderland opens here

Three companies of Junior Achievement, Buzzco III, The Royal Enterprizers and the Woodchuckers, will sponsor a Halloween Wonderland on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 22-23.

The seasonal event will be staged on the parking lot of the Jr. Achievement Center, Johnson Road and Wabash Avenue, for the benefit of the small children in the area.

Carnival at Harris Friday

The Madison Parents Club, formerly Madison Mothers Club, will sponsor a carnival Friday at the Harris Grade School, 7th Street and Alton Avenue, Madison.

The event will be conducted from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Chairmen are Judy Zelsel and Karen Purkayle.

Various games will be offered for all ages. They will include grab bags, a pumpkin patch, bean bag toss games and a maze.

A cake walk will be featured. Parents are being encouraged to participate by donating baked goods and contributing their time for the evening.

Refreshments will be available, according to Secretary Donna Kosteck.

SEMINAR ON FEEDING BIRDS IN ONE'S YARD

"Attracting Birds" is the topic of a seminar at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Edwardsville. The speaker is Dr. John McCall, a past vice president of the Illinois Audubon Society and current officer of the Southwestern Illinois Audubon Society.

A slide presentation will show homeowners how to meet fall and winter requirements of birds in their own backyards. Dr. McCall will highlight types of birds that people can expect to see and will offer bird enthusiasts the opportunity to ask questions. The seminar, free and open to the public, will be held at Home Nursery on Rt. 157 and University Drive.

'APPLE KNOCKERS.' Setting off on a wagon trip through the Eckert Orchards at Grafton are youngsters from the Cloverview Day Care Center, 2450 Pontoon Road. The local children picked bags of apples and are planning to make sauce and muffins, teachers said. Among the adult staff members was Katie Wilson, at center. Twenty preschoolers taking part in the field trip also enjoyed a picnic lunch at Pere Marquette State Park.

Darrell Young earns Eagle Scout award

Darrell Young, 14, an active member of Boy Scout Troop 96 for four years, received the rank of Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor ceremony conducted at Maryville School.

Mike Carbonnier served as master of ceremonies for the night and a special guest introduced was Mrs. Beatrice Corey, grandmother of the honoree.

After the presentation of the colors by Andrew Karandjeff and Chris Morris, Howard Lynch recited the pledge of allegiance.

Featured speakers for the event were Leroy Stark, who led the candlelight ceremony, Bill Monical with the Eagle qualifications, Tom Thebeau with the Eagle challenge, Dan Poston gave the Eagle charge, Gary Morris read the Eagle poem and Scoutmaster Bud Charbonnier the Eagle oath.

Darrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Young, has held the positions of senior patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader, patrol leader, and is presently bugler serving in the leadership patrol.

During the summer months he served two weeks in training for staff member at Camp Sunnen in Potosi, Mo. He earned 21 merit badges including, communications, home repairs, dog care, rifle-shooting, handicapped awareness, basketry, cooking, swimming, energy preparedness, camping, fishing, first aid, citizenship in community, nation and world, pets, environmental science, safety, personal management and music.

Youngsters enjoy apple-picking trip

Children from the Cloverview Day Care Center, 2450 Pontoon Road, took part in a field trip to pick their own apples at the Eckert Orchard in Grafton.

When the youngsters arrived, they climbed aboard a "happy wagon" for a ride to the orchard where each picked a bag of apples and became a genuine member of the "Apple Knockers" group.

They also visited the country store and tasted some apple cider. In the weeks ahead, the children will take part in making chunky-style apple sauce and apple muffins, according to the teachers.

Before returning to Granite City, the group enjoyed a picnic lunch at Pere Marquette State Park.

Youthful participants were Ryan Anderson, Erin Bailew, Kara Barton, Chris Bruzalis, Casey Gaudette, Rachel Herman, Sam Keck, Andy Keck, Krislyn Niggl, Alexis Oliver, Tara Tonsor, John Kelly, Bart Barylske, Amy Cagle, Breann Chastain, Paul Dix, C. J. Moxey, Nicole Ragan, Michael Williams and Theresa Wilson.

Staff members accompanying the group were Doris Apthorpe, Sharon King, Katie Wilson, Nancy Heil, Nathan Kessler and Dee Alfaro.

The Cloverview Day Care Center has a daily attendance of 35 children. The school is sponsored by the First United Pentecostal Church.

SIUE enrollment rises to 10,360

For the fourth consecutive year, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has recorded an increase in fall quarter enrollment.

Eugene J. Magac, director of the Office of Admissions and Records, announced that student enrollment for the fall 1983 quarter is 10,360, an increase of 102 over last year's 10,258.

The figures do not include Educared enrollment, which is at an all-time high of 178 attendance to a total of 10,538. Educared is a public service program which allows individuals not enrolled at the university for credit to attend selected university classes on a space-available basis.

The university is experiencing its largest number of new students during the fall quarter since 1975. Magac defined new students as those freshmen, transfer students and graduates attending classes at SIUE for the first time. Overall, there are 2,587 new freshmen, new transfer students and new graduates enrolled in classes this quarter.

New freshmen, totaling 1,287, are at the highest level since 1980, the admissions director said.

Magac said there is considerable interest in the number of students enrolled in Week End University, a new program of course offerings scheduled on Saturdays and Sundays, but statistics immediately available do not distinguish between regular students and weekend students.

The number of part-time students is higher than during any fall quarter since 1978. There are 3,875 students attending on a part-time basis this fall, compared to 3,666 last fall.

Women continue to outnumber men on the campus, with the number of female students taking classes totaling 5,326, compared to 5,034 male students.

This is the seventh consecutive fall session that female students have been in the majority.

Magac reported a significant increase in the number of science and engineering students, although they are registered in separate schools this year.

Last year, there were 729 majors in the School of Science and Engineering, while this year there are 334 majors in the School of Engineering and 490 majors in the School of Sciences, for a total of 824.

Another big increase was reported in the Graduate School, where enrollment has climbed from 1,792 last year to 1,777 this year.

LUMPKINS ASSIGNED TO LOURY AIR BASE

Airman David M. Lumpkins, son of Mrs. Linda L. Lumpkins of 2330 Parkway Drive, Granite City, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing six-week Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field. He is a 1983 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Moose will sponsor Halloween parade

Moose Lodge 272 will sponsor its traditional Halloween parade through downtown Granite City again this year, Walter Anders, parade chairman, announced today.

The event will take place at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31, starting at the City Hall, Niedringhaus and Edison Avenues. About 150 youngsters and adults participated in last year's parade, Anders said.

Costumed marchers may compete for prizes in three categories—funniest, most original and scariest outfits. A panel of judges will determine the winners.

First, second and third place awards will be presented in each category. Additionally, a number of consolation prizes will be distributed to contestants.
